AT MENLO PARK

Proceeds from this event will benefit the Thomas Edison Center at Menlo Park Celebrating the 148th Anniversary of Edison's Menlo Park Laboratory

The 'Wizard of Menlo Park' label is synonymous with Thomas Edison's astounding burst of creativity at his Menlo Park research & development site! It was here Edison became world-famous due to his invention of the Phonograph. He would next astound the world as he and his team created a practical electric light and a safe electrical distribution system.

It was these two Menlo Park era inventions, out of the almost four hundred patents created during Edison's tenure at Menlo Park, that would spearhead his approach and how he became a catalyst of the future of technology. Edison announced a demonstration of his lighting system for New Year's Eve, 1879, astonishing the audience with the pleasing light, not the harsh light of previous electric light inventions.

The Thomas Edison Center at Menlo Park is committed to providing an enriched, interactive, and inspirational educational experience for all who visit, learn, and take inspiration from all that Thomas Edison accomplished. Our current visitors come from all over the world to see, firsthand, this world famous historic site. Our current facilities do not do justice to the significant and enduring value of the work of the Great Inventor and his team. Please help support our efforts to create a center deserving of a museum space that can more appropriately honor the legacy of Thomas Edison.

You are cordially invited to join us for our 10th Annual
